

Start Building Relationships With Patients...Before They Get To Your Chair

Are you losing opportunities to engage website visitors that don't call the office or fill out a lead form?

When someone lands on your website they want the product or service to be exactly what they are looking for. You don't know what that is...unless you ask. Knowing what your visitor traffic wants will help keep them on your site.

What if you could engage the visitors to your website by asking some simple questions so you get to know them a bit, before they randomly view any additional pages on the website.

To see what this might look like and to receive your FREE GUIDE click Next

Next

A "one size fits all" website does not immediately engage a prospective patient with what they are looking for. More often than not they leave the site without taking any action.

Using the newest methods of digital technology combined with micro-learning we can help you nurture a relationship with prospective patients...before they get to your chair...and increase the number of prospective patients to take action and book an appointment with your practice.

A prospective patient's decision to engage with your practice is a journey of micro-commitments they have made along the way. It's a decision journey to feeling comfortable enough to make and keep an appointment with you.

At 22 Ad Group we help you gain a deeper understanding of what patients want using a proven step-by-step method. We ask the right questions through quizzes, surveys or assessments to gain insight about the one thing everyone wants to talk about...themselves. So, you can better understand and better serve.

Learn more about how to nurture a patient's decision journey to your chair: click Next to download your FREE guide:

"Five Tips on How to Start Building Relationships With Your Patients...Before They Get To Your Chair"

Next

Yes, the future of dental marketing is here!